volume on Sir Philip Sidney. Mrs. Mary A. Livermore has collected in a volume her Lectures on Women, and it will soon be published by Lee & Shepard, under the title of "What Shall we do with our Daughters !- Super-tious Women, and other Lectures." Mr. John Ashton is about to publish "The Dis courses of Captain John Smith," with facsimiles of

The new magazine of fiction which, it was ru-mored, was to be a monthly, will, on the contrary, be published weekly. Mr. William Swinton, who attained an enviable reputation as a war corre spondent under the late Governor Raymond, and who subsequently made the earliest valuable contributions to the history of the war-one of which at least, the history of the Army of the Potomae still stands as one of the very best historical productions which the great struggle has evoked-is now turning aside from his former work as a college professor, and his more recent work as the success ful author of a singularly lucid series of school, books. He is the projector and editor of the new venture, which will bear the enticing title of Swinton's Story-Teller. Each number will contain from four to six complete tales from the best story-writers in this country and in Eugland. The plan is a good one, and it will be strange indeed if The Story-Teller does not become both pleasant and profitable. The Rev. Edward Everett Hale, who has prepared for the first number a tale entitled "Cromwell's Statue," gays that he has been for a long time "advising and prophesying the formation of a magazine for stories only"; and, considering the universal liking for this form of fiction, it is matter of wonder that a periodical of this character was not undertaken long ago. Those who have attempted to occupy the field have pitched their standards too low; it is pleasant to welcome a weekly storypaper which proposes to be not only entertaining, but really valuable and memorable in a literary

Mr. Julian Hawthorne has written for the No vember number of Harper an All-Hallowe'en story called "Ken's Mystery."

Mr. Charles Nordhoff, in his forthcoming volume entitled "God and the Future Life," endeavors to win young people to a sincere and intelligent faith in the Christian religion; and, it is said, treats those who doubt and question with scrupulous fair-

The cheap volumes of "Lovell's Library" are un-smally convenient and readable as regards size and clearness of type. The numbers are mostly reprints of well-known books, works of fiction being in the majority. The publishers do not state whether the living authors get the usual percent-

FROM HENRY WADSWORTH LONGFELLOW. Dustrat from Paintings by his son, Ernest W. Longfellow. Svo, cloth, taste-fully stamped, full gilt, $4; morocco, $0; tree calf extra, panel side, with polished bevel edge, $9.

These poems are illustrated with fifty designs, in which Mr Ernest Longfellow interprets their spirit with rare grace and beauty. A fine new portrait of Mr. Longfellow is prefixed to the volume, and pecu-liar interest attaches to the book from the fact that the portrait and all the illustrations are from the hand of the poet's son. It is in all respects a very tasteful gift-book.

RECOLLECTIONS OF A NAVAL OFFICER

By Captain within it.

"The book has the breezy air of the sea about it, and abounds with the nappiest bits of humor and anecdotes took with inimitable one. It gives a picture of the 'Old Navy' as graphic makes, contribution to history which will be recognized as of special value; but there is not a trace of asperity in what he has written, and each topic is discussed with a manily candor which will win the respect of every reader."

THE STORY OF ROLAND.

Birch, 1 vol., square 12mo, $2.

This volume is intended as a companion to "The Story Siegrirod." As "Siegrired" was an adaptation of N orther with an and romances to the wants and the understanding volume readers, so is this story a similar adaptation of the differences recalling 16 Charlemagne and haladins. In Mr. Baidwin's hands the different legends isoland and his companions are here fused into a straightfe ward story; and the history, the manners, and the custom of the time, as well as all that pertains to the institution chivalry, have been faithfully and yet vividly represented.

EAST OF THE JORDAN:

A RECORD OF TRAVEL AND OBSERVATION IN THE COUNTRIES OF MOAR, GILEAD, AND BASHAN. BURING THE YEARS 1875-1877. By Selah Merrill, Archæologist of the American Paicetime Exploration Society. With illustrations and a map. 1 vol., 8vo. A new edition. Price reduced to $2 50.

"As a book of travels it takes high rank. Mr. Merrili's sketches of the land, the accuery, the people east of the Jordan, are fresh, vigorous, and full of life, and is this respect the book is never dull. He writes in an attractive style, and his descriptions of scenery are especially good. His book is beau fluy illustrated throughout, largely from drawings made by himself."—The Nation.] A NEW STORY BY JULES VERNE.

GODFREY MORGAN. A California Mystery. By Jules Verne, with nume iliustrations. 1 vol. 12mo, $2. This latest emanation of Verne's andacious genius is a stot the Crusce order, and is connected with the adventures the restiess young Californian, Goofrey Morgan, and his commercial the beautiful master. Tartlet, upon a strange islat where they have been wrecked. The story is one of the manazing citoris of Verne's genius, and certainly lacks near interest nor amusement; The illustrations are very numeros and equal the text in torce and character.
